Rogers served in temporary command of a Detachment 3rd West India Regiment in defence of Lower Combe, Gambia, in Feb. 1864, against hostile native factions, and was employed by the Governor of the Gambia on diplomatic service in conjunction with the Governor of Sierra Leone and Commodore Barclay-Wilmet, for which he received official thanks. Served as Brigade Adjutant in charge of guns in the expedition under Lt. Colonel Harley up the River Gambia in June 1864, and was favorably noticed. 1st Batt. embarked for Malta, 30 Sept. 1866.

2nd Batt. returned from India, 3 Jan. 1873.—Embarked for the Cape of Good Hope, February 1878.

¹ General Taylor proceeded in 1811 to join the 22nd Dragoons in the East Indies, where he served until their return to Europe and disbandment, 25th Oct. 1820. He was in the field in 1815 and 16, and during the whole of the Mahratta war in 1817-19; the published official records show that his conduct was conspicuous in the Brigade Cavalry actions of Bucktownie and of Nagmore, and in that of Ashta (20th Feb. 1818), the enemy having charged, overthrown one Regiment and cut down the General commanding, he, as Brigade Major, incurred the responsibility of countermanding the retreat, of ordering measures which terminated in the entire defeat of the Peishwar, the death of his Commander in Chief (Gokla), and the rescue of the Rajah of Satarrah, influential events that terminated the war. At the siege of Capaul-droog, he commanded a Battery at the storm (13th May 1819), he blew open the first gate with a galloper gun of the 22nd Dragoons, and heading the Forlorn Hope, he stormed in succession the five distinct circles of fortifications, every man and officer of his party being either killed or wounded, he received at the summit of that strong hill fort, at the moment of success in its capture, a shot through his lungs and body that killed a Grenadier behind him. The Governor General of India specially recommended him to favourable consideration for his services in India. In 1823-24 he was employed in the Cape Cavalry against the Caffres, and was recommended for promotion by the Governor and Commander in Chief. In 1827 he was sent to England from Malta to establish discipline in a corps that had fired at and nearly killed their Adjutant, their insubordination being sustained by a turbulent mob at a period of popular excitement. He took command and the Battalion shot him three times on the public parade, they fired into his windows and shot through the cheek an aide de camp who stood behind him. He suppressed the mutiny, and received through the Adjutant General the Sovereign's record that "the decided and necessary punishment to which he had resorted had effectually repressed the spirit that prevailed when he assumed the command." In Jan. 1841 he was relieved from a bullet which had been in his body since 1819. In Aug. 1846 his life was imperilled from a surgical operation consequent upon the passage of some cloth driven into him by a shot. In Nov. 1848 he was relieved from a piece of bone broken in his body by a shot. From April 1854 to Dec. 1857 he was a Colonel on the Staff at the Cape of Good Hope, where as a Brigadier at a "period of peculiar difficulty and imminently threatened war" he commanded a large force in Kaffraria with approbation and thanks publicly recorded. From April 1860 to April 1861 he was Commander of the Forces and Lieut. Governor of Jamaica and its Dependencies.
